

Now You Know!

Some companies say they do nurse triage for workplace injuries. Other companies add it onto their other services for “free.” But only one company has focused on delivering real nurse triage for workers’ compensation since 1997. That’s Company Nurse. The name that started it all and continues to perfect the process, taking care of employees, helping workplaces be more productive, and making businesses more profitable.

If You’re Not Saving, You’re Probably Not Using Company Nurse

It’s hard to argue with decades of statistics and results. The numbers reveal the truth: When you call Company Nurse first, you see results.

20%

15-20% Reduction in Claims

Triaging often leads to appropriate self-care which reduces claims.

30%

20-30% Cost Reduction

Triaging minimizes unnecessary emergency room visits, saving you and your employees money, time too.

36%

Self-Care Recommendations

When more employees are referred to self-care, claims and costs both go down.

Company Nurse is your first line of defense against work’s little (and not so little) mishaps. Protect your employees, protect your company.

Workplace accidents are a fact of life. So why be unprepared? Especially when there’s a simple, effective way to make sure injured employees get the care they need, without delay, with one call.

Get Ahead of Workplace Injuries

Some accidents are big, but usually they’re not. Or they don’t have to be. Unless of course, you forget to call Company Nurse first. Then they might become very big. Why risk it?

Company Nurse can...

- Minimize pain
- Reduce administrative stress
- Save your company money
- Improve productivity

Yes, there is something in it for everyone because when you call Company Nurse first, you make the right decision in advance... and at the moment of injury.

Company Nurse Eases the Pain of Workers’ Comp

There’s nothing fun about workers’ comp. Completing incident reports, filing claims, managing providers, responding to information requests, investigating claims... the list is long. It’s all so complicated and time-consuming. And that’s even when things go well! Imagine when they don’t. But you don’t have to go it alone. In addition to triaging workplace injuries at the moment they occur, Company Nurse also gets your workers’ comp claims off to your ideal start. People love us for that!
